The Sales Strategy Index is an objective analysis of an individual's understanding of the strategies required to sell successfully in any sales environment. It essentially answers the question, "Can this person sell?" Like any profession, selling has a body of knowledge related to its successful execution. It is this knowledge that the Sales Strategy Index measures.

Although dealing with the issue of whether a person can or cannot sell is an essential component in predicting or improving sales success, it is certainly not the only one required for optimum sales performance. Behavior, attitude, and personal interests and values are other areas to consider.

Understanding effective sales strategy can help lead you to success as long as you can implement it. However, just knowing it is not enough, you must utilize what you know.

This report will give you feedback on your strengths and weaknesses. From this you can develop a plan to overcome your weaknesses. Knowledge of one's strengths and weaknesses, along with a desire to be the best you can be, will allow you to target your professional sales growth.

PROSPECTING / QUALIFY: The first step of any sales system. It is the phase of the sale where prospects are identified, detailed background information is gathered, the physical activity of traditional prospecting is coordinated and an overall strategy for face-to-face selling is developed.

- (5/9) 56% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (3/9) 33% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

FIRST IMPRESSION / GREETING: The first face-to-face interaction between a prospect and the salesperson, this step is designed to enable the salesperson to display his or her sincere interest in the prospect...to gain positive acceptance and to develop a sense of mutual respect and rapport. It is the first phase of face-to-face trust building and sets the face-to-face selling process in motion.

- (2/8) 25% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (2/8) 25% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

QUALIFYING / QUESTIONS: The questioning and detailed needs analysis phase of the face-to-face sale, this step of selling enables the salesperson to discover what the prospect will buy, when they will buy and under what conditions they will buy. It is allowing the prospect to identify and verbalize their level of interest and specific detailed needs in the product or service the salesperson is offering.

- (3/6) 50% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (0/6) 0% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

DEMONSTRATION: The ability of the salesperson to present his or her product in such a way that it fulfills the stated or implied needs or intentions of the prospect as identified and verbalized.

- (6/8) 75% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (1/8) 13% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

INFLUENCE: What people believe enough, they act upon. This step is designed to enable the salesperson to build value and overcome the tendency that many prospects have to place little belief or trust in what is told to them. It is this phase of the sale that solidifies the prospect's belief in the supplier, product or service and salesperson.

- (4/6) 67% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (1/6) 17% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

CLOSE: The final phase of any selling system. This step is asking the prospect to buy, dealing with objections, handling any necessary negotiation and completing the transaction to mutual satisfaction.

- (7/8) 88% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (0/8) 0% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

GENERAL: This area represents an overall understanding of the sales process. Knowledge of the process can lead to a positive attitude toward sales and a commitment to the individual sales steps.

- (6/9) 67% of the time you chose the most effective strategy
- (1/9) 11% of the time you ranked the second most effective strategy as your first choice

LEAST EFFECTIVE STRATEGY ANALYSIS

Please review the following questions. In these situations you selected the least effective strategy as the most effective strategy. For each question listed, the most effective strategy is provided for your review.

1. You have completed your presentation and were told to check back in two weeks. You do so only to discover your prospect bought from a competitor. Where did you make your mistake?
 - A. You did not create enough value for your product or service.
4. During the presentation, the prospect makes a statement about your product that is clearly incorrect. You should:
 - C. State that what he said is a common misconception or misunderstanding about your product and then clarify.
8. You approach your prospect and discover the person you are seeing is unable to make any type of formal decision. You should:
 - A. Continue to sell in order to develop an internal advocate.
15. During a face-to-face meeting, asking the prospect how many facilities he has is an example of:
 - A. Being poorly prepared for a sales call.
17. You arrive early for an appointment and learn you will not be able to meet with the prospect at your prearranged appointment time. You should:
 - A. Ask the receptionist if you can use the phone to alert your next appointment that you are running late.

36. Potential customers may be afraid of:

A. Making a wrong decision.

SALES STRATEGY INDEX™

PRIMARY EFFECTIVENESS RATING

The following graph illustrates YOUR understanding of the most effective sales strategy in a series of sales situations. Research validates that understanding and applying an effective sales strategy is directly related to sales success. The higher the score in any particular area the stronger your specific understanding of what is required to be successful in the sales process.

UNDERSTANDING WHAT NOT TO DO

Knowing what NOT to do in a given sales situation can be just as important as knowing what to do. Your understanding of what NOT to do will keep you from building barriers to a successful presentation. A HIGH SCORE indicates that you have a strong understanding of what strategies to avoid when selling.
